

Updating Quick Qualifier version Ten

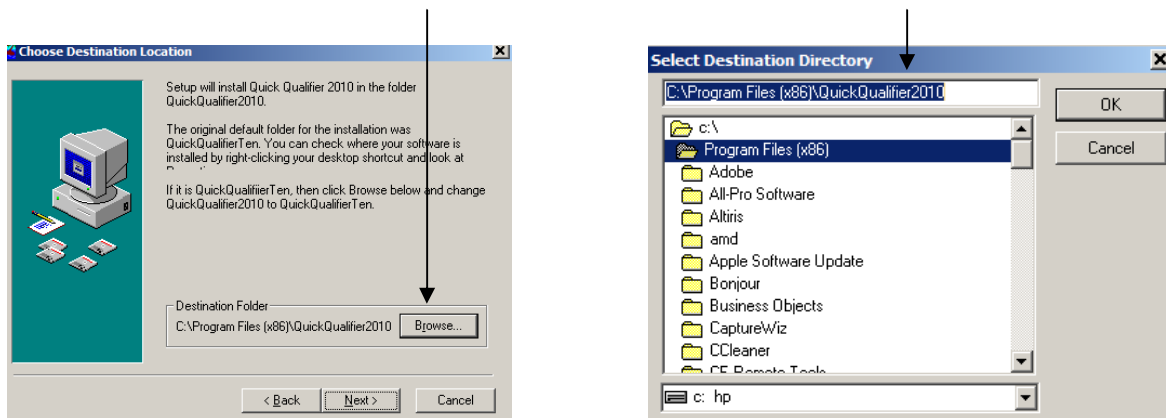

Running the file UpdateQuickQualifer2010 will automate the process for you. The one thing that you should do before you run the file is to see where the software was originally installed. Our current folder is QuickQualifier2010.

However, some early installations put the software in QuickQualifierTen. You can check this by right-clicking your desktop short cut and look at Properties.

As you can see from this screenshot, this location will match the default folder when you install. However, if the target is "C:\Program Files (x86)\QuickQualifierTen\QQ2010.exe", then you will need to change something when you run the installation.

In the second screen, click Browse. Then change QuickQualifier2010 to QuickQualifierTen.

Next, continue the update installation normally. The process will put the necessary files in the application folder to update your software.

An easy way to make sure the update worked is to click Help, About in any of the screens. It should show the last updated date as 1/25/2010.
